

Revera appoints first Chief Medical Officer, Dr. Rhonda Collins

*New CMO strengthens focus on quality clinical care;
CMO position unique in Canadian senior living sector.*

MISSISSAUGA, Canada - October 3, 2017 – Revera Inc. is proud to announce the appointment of Dr. Rhonda Collins to the newly-created leadership role of Chief Medical Officer (CMO) - a first for the retirement living and long term care sector in Canada.

“Revera is committed to taking a leadership role in enhancing the quality of the clinical care we provide to our residents,” said Thomas Wellner, President and CEO at Revera. “Adding a respected expert in seniors care like Dr. Rhonda Collins as Revera’s Chief Medical Officer reinforces our commitment to innovation as we strive to improve the aging experience of older people.”

Dr. Collins will provide advice, guidance and leadership on the social, psychological and healthcare aspects of aging for Revera’s retirement living residences and long term care homes. A trained family physician with experience in long term care, she brings passion and expertise in memory care, dementia, falls prevention and clinical quality improvement to her new role as Revera’s Chief Medical Officer.

“It is an honour to join one of Canada’s leading innovators and providers of seniors’ living,” said Dr. Rhonda Collins, Chief Medical Officer at Revera. “I am passionate about enhancing the well-being of older people, and pursuing continuous quality improvement through evidence-based best practices.”

Biography

Dr. Rhonda Collins is a family physician with a certificate of added competence in Care of the Elderly from the College of Family Physicians of Canada.
